Numb. 753. THE

So^th. Carolina-Gazette.

Containing the freshest Advices, Foreign and Domestick.

From MONDAY September 12th, to WEDNESDAY September 21st, 1748.

LONDON, June 18.

The following is a Copy of the Protestation formerly mentioned, under which the Minister Plenipotentiary of her Imperial Majesty signed the Preliminary Articles.

HIS Majesty, the King of Great Britain, and their High Mightinesses, the States General of the United Provinces, having thought fit to conclude with France certain Preliminary Articles for a Peace, without the knowledge or participation of her Imperial Majesty, the underwritten Minister of her said Majesty cannot avoid protesting, by the present Act, as he has already done, viva voce, in the strongest and most solemn manner against the said Preliminaries, and against all that is contained in them, prejudicial to her said Majesty's Interests.

Nevertheless, as from the very Beginning of the present Troubles which disturb Europe, her Imperial Majesty has constantly testified the ardent Desire with which she was animated for the Re-establishment of the publick Tranquility; the underwritten Minister declares, that with a View of coming at so desirable an End, and put a Period to the Horrors and Calamities to which so many Nations have been but too long exposed, her Imperial Majesty would be willing to accord, even at her Expence, a temporary Establishment for the most serene Infant Don Philip, 'till by the Vacancy of Naples or Spain that Prince may succeed to one or other of those Kingdoms.

The underwritten Minister declares however, that her Imperial Majesty cannot consent to the said Establishment on the Foot before mentioned, but upon the following express Condition, and not otherwise, viz. That all the Cessions which she made by the Treaty of Worms, in Favour of his Majesty the King of Sardinia, shall be revoked, annulled, and annihilated, and her Majesty the Empress re-established in the actual Possession of all the Towns, Countries, and Districts, which are the Objects of the said Cessions. It is most evident that the high contracting Parties in the Treaty of Worms, did not enter into the Engagements of the said Treaty, but with a View to prevent an Establishment of the House of Bourbon in Italy, and the Empress in particular being no way obliged to make the said Cession now in Question, but from the Motive and the Consideration of the Advantages promised her in Exchange; Reason and Equity will not permit that her Majesty should be bound by Engagements that are burthensome to her, when instead of procuring her the Advantages that were stipulated in her Favour, the End, the Basis, the very Foundation of that Treaty, are directly overturned by the new Sacrifices that are exacted of her Majesty for an Establishment for the Infant.

It is on the Foot of this Declaration, that the underwritten Minister is ready to enter into Negotiation with the Ministers of the invested Powers, and to conclude thereupon an Armistice General, as well as in relation to the Methods that may be esteemed reasonable for accelerating the salutary Work of Peace.

By the Help of this Temperament the Peace may be made without any Body's losing any Thing, her Majesty only excepted; every other Expedient, instead of fulfilling the great Object that ought to be proposed in a Reconciliation, which is to re-establish a good Intelligence amongst Enemies, and strengthen the Confidence of Allies, will on the contrary produce only Effects directly opposite to this desired End.

Done at Aix-la-Chapelle,

C. KAUNITZ RITBERGH.

LONDON, June 18.

They write from Vienna of the 12th Instant, N. S. that their Imperial Majesties set out the Day before for Moravia, and would be absent for near a Fortnight.

Letters from Chamberry, Capital of Savoy say, that in all appearance the Spaniards were preparing to evacuate that Dutchy, and that they flattered themselves the happy Moment was not far off, because the Intendant General had ordered all the Inhabitants to pay a Month's Imposition before Hand, for the Month of July.

Aix-la-Chapelle, June 26.

M Soto Mayor, the Spanish Minister, having receiv'd Orders from his Court, as has likewise the Marquis Doria, the Genoese Minister, to accede, purely and simply to the Preliminaries, for a general Pacification, it was agreed by the Plenipotentiary, that their several Acts of Accession, for the Conclusion of that important Affair should be signed To-morrow or next Day.

Hague, June 29. This Day his Grace the Duke of Newcastle, his Britannick Majesty's Principal Secretary of State, sets out from this Place for the Army; from whence his Grace is to proceed to Hanover.

LONDON, June 21.

Letters from Chamberry assure, that the Spaniards were to evacuate that Dutchy by the 14th of July; that the French would at the same Time quit the County of Nice; and that the King of Sardinia had actually quitted Placentia; but had ordered the Castle of Tortona to be thoroughly repaired, and some new Fortifications added.

They write from Paris, that several Ships were sailed from France to take Possession of Louisburg, in consequence of the Restitution made of C. Breton by his Britannick Majesty.

Letters from Stockholm say, that the King continues very ill, and that he has named Count Taube his Minister Plenipotentiary to the Congress of Aix-la-Chapelle, and it is said that he will also send a Minister to the Dyet in Poland.

We learn from France, that John Philip de Bourbon, Chevalier d'Orleans, Son of the late Duke Regent, and Brother of the present Duke d'Orleans, Grand Prior of the Order of Malta in France, Grandee of Spain of the First Class, and General of the Gallies, died at Paris on the 12th Instant at Night, aged forty six; and 'tis thought the Office of General of the Gallies, which cost the French King above six hundred thousand Livres (about 26,000 l. Ster.) annually, will be suppressed, and the Galley Slaves put on board the Men of War, as the Gallies themselves have for a long while been found of no Use.

Some Letters from Turin mention a Marriage as on the Point of Conclusion between the Duke of Savoy, eldest Son of his Sardinian Majesty, and one of the Daughters of France.

By a Courier from Italy, they have received News at Paris, of the Cessation of Hostilities on the Part of the King of Sardinia, and every Minute expect the same with respect to the Austrians. In the mean Time the general Reform that was to have been made in the Army of the Low Countries, has not yet taken Place.

We hear that Col. Hobion, who is now at Cape-Breton, will be recalled home, and that he will have the vacant Regiment, late General Fuller's.

We learn from Copenhagen, that several Projects are on the Carpet for promoting Manufactures, extending to Commerce, and increasing Shipping; in respect to the last of which, they have begun to repair and enlarge an old Fort four Miles from thence, where a new Ship has been actually built of twenty five Guns.

Letters from Dantzick, mention an extraordinary Pendulum that had been brought thither, made by William Tonburgh, a Daniſh Peaſant, which, abating the Decay of the Materials by Fiction, is a true perpetual Motion; the Spring, when unbent, yielding to the Force of another Spring, which ſets a Wheel going that winds up the firſt.

It is ſaid that his Royal Highneſs the Duke of Cumberland will come to England, ſome Time in Auguſt next.

We learn from Paris, that the Struggles in the Spaniſh Miniſtry were ſo great, that it had been believed they would have retarded the Court's coming to any definitive Reſolution, with reſpect to the Preliminaries, more eſpecially ſince it is evident, that the Queen Dowager's Party have had Strength enough to carry two great Points very lately, viz. The ſending ſo large a Convoy of ready Money to the Army of Don Philip; and the procuring ſo public an Affront to be put upon M. de Macanas.

Mr. Peter Timothy,

SIR,

I TAKE this Opportunity of letting you know, that your anonymous Joke, or ſilly Thing, as it is termed by Mr. REMINGTON's Men of Underſtanding, has anſwered the End for which it was intended: It has drawn Reynard from behind the Scene, who before was only ſmelt, and a little ſilly ſimple Lay-Trap has caught a—— Fear not his Threats Mr. Timothy; he grins and ſhews a ſett of willing Teeth, but cannot bite. He is ſufficiently reſtrained within the Bounds of the Law, and altho' he blows thro' another Man's Trumpet, ſtill his Blaſts are feeble and unmeaning, they diſcover an eager Inclination without Ability, and favour as much of Ignorance as Indiſcretion.—I have already drop'd Mr. Remington, and have left him to the Law; but, if his Prompter has a mind to enter the Liſts, and appear in Public, let him do it in his own proper Perſon and Character, and he may meet with Joke for Joke. In the mean time Mr. Timothy, let me tell you two Secrets, the one is, That the Juriſdiction or Authority of His Grace the Archbiſhop of Canterbury is a limited one, the Extent whereof (as I am informed) has been heretofore tried, nay fixed and ſettled both in Old and New-England, and that, not in an Eccleſiaſtical or Spiritual Court, but in a Court of Law, and by His Majeſty in Council; the other Secret is, That I hold you indemnified againſt all Proſecutions upon Account of any Thing that you have already publiſhed in your Gazette, or may publiſh by Order of Sir,

Your humble Servant,

JOHN RATRAY.
